

It's Their Game & They Make the Rules

Next time you and your best friend get together to play your favorite game, tell him that you have decided to change the rules. When he asks you what the new rules are, tell him that you will let him know as and when you decide you need them. Also that you will let him know what rules apply to him and what rules apply to you. Let me know how this works out...

Its About Time We Play By Our Rules Again...

It's taken decades and we all helped them. Before they could actually change the rules, they had to gain total control. They have always enjoyed partial control and were satisfied. But they are human and human nature will always prevail.

We continually allowed this group to gain power and privilege without qualification.

They represent only .36% of the American population. Their profession is one of the very least respected professions in America in polls year after year.

They can lie, trick and con you and then they hug known murders in celebration after 'playing' you the jury.

They tax and they spend your money without conscience.

They fail at the job you give them yet they still receive salaries and pensions most people only dream of.

They are destroying the greatest country in world history and most people still don't even recognize them. You call them 'politicians', 'judges', 'senators', 'republicans', 'democrats', 'liberals', 'conservatives', etc.

They for decades brilliantly hid behind these labels as they invaded and took control of our country.

They now control the legislatures, the courts and the executive branches of ALL local, state and the federal government.

They now have Total Control and They Now Make The Rules.

Anyone who does not realize this is not paying attention. Anyone who thinks this is ridiculous, I have a bridge in Brooklyn for sale.

Yes, lawyers now run the United States of America. Every move you make or consider in your daily personal or business life is in some way is directed by lawyers under the titles delineated above. Take a moment and think about it. Even in your conversation with your fellow man you have to be careful not to be 'libelous' or cause any 'emotional harm' or even tell them how sexy they look (sexual harassment) for fear of a lawsuit. You have to walk a straight line 24/7 or else.

BUT THEY are Exempt. Every single bill you pay and every product you buy has to have lawsuit costs built in to the final price. Doctors pay enormous amounts of money and live daily with the potential malpractice suit hovering over them. Lawyers fail clients everyday, ever hear of malpractice insurance for lawyers?

Unfair? NO, 'those are the rules'. Get it? Remember how relieved most Americans were when Scott Brown won the Senate seat and was the 41st vote against Health Care Bill? The bill was now "dead on arrival". They no longer had the 60 votes needed.

No problem!

It's their game and so they just added another rule they needed.

Done - Won Again

It's so easy when you have total control...

Starting to get it? Not yet? OK here's just a few more examples;

(Google search results in case you need more proof.)

- Next Page -